For Treasurer:
R. C. Horne,
T. J. Mobley. For Members of School Board. G. B. Bush. W. F. Russ,

We suppose a word of explanation as to why there are two candidates for the county treasurer is in order. It is this: When the convention met to make nominations for county officers, there was a deadlock as to treasurer, and after nearly two days balloting, it was decided to place both parties in the field and let the voters take their choice at the general election. And thus it will remain unless the Executive committee should call a primary election to settle it. election to settle it.

GARCIA DIDN'T WRITE IT.

Santiago de Cuba. July 23.—It now turns out that the letter alleged to have been addressed by General Garcia to General addressed by General Garcia to General Shafter, complaining of the treatment accorded the Cubans and advising General Shafter of General Garcia's resignation, was prepared by a newspaper correspondent named Arms, who has been acting on the staff of General Castillo. It is not clear that General Garcia ever saw the letter.

DONE QUICKLY AND WELL.

DONE QUICKLY AND WELL.

The officials in charge of the conduct of the war have been much censured by public opinion for the delays that, to the civilian, seemed unnecessary and inexcusable. Without denying that some of the movements have been attended by un accountable delay, the American people have more cause for pride in what has been done than for mortification on account of tardiness. Looking at the campaign thus far as a whole it is little liable to the charge of undue delay. Two Spanish fleets have been completely destroyed, and what is left of the navy that at the beginning of the war was compared with our own, is now hurrying to the refuge of the land defenses of a Spanish harbor. In less than three months Spain has been literally wiped from the seas. At the beginning of hostilities she occupied the eighth place among the naval powers of the world, while the United States occupied only the fifth or sixth place. The difference in apparent strength was not great enough to justify the opinion that the American navy would so speedily and so completely annihilate its foe.

On land the campaign has been short, sharp and decisive. The war has been practically ended in less than three months. The heaviest fighting may be yet to come, but it will not be rational war. It will be the despair of a brave nation determined to fight to the death.

The war for American independence lasted eight years. The war of 18 2 extenged through nearly three years. It took the United States more than two years to conquer Mexico, and the Civil Warstretched its record of bloody battles through four years. Even our Indian wars have usually lasted much longer than the time thus tar occupied by the present struggle. There is little room to complain that the work has not been specifiy done.

Indoubtedly there will soon be a lull in hostilities. After Porto Rico, if Spain continue to reside the processing the continue to reside the continue to re speedily done.

Indoubtedly there will soon be a lull in hostlitties. After Porto Rico. if Spain continue to resist, will come Western Cuba, but the experience with the fever at Santiago will doubtless delay the invasion till October. Spain has fully 100,000 soldiers near Havana, and if it should become necessary to invade Western Cuba, more men will probably be kill and wound ed in one big battle there than were engaged on both sides at Santiago. We have been so long at peace that the loss of 2,000 men seems great. Measured by the number killed, battles of the Civil War as important as that of Santiago have been dropped out of history, or remembered only as skirmishes. The fighting at Santiago was important in the destruction of Cervera's fieet, the capture of the city and the surrender of the soldiers in a large extent of territory. In its loss of life it was insignificant as compared with battles that Americans have fought, and with others they will fight if Spain should prolong her resistance and compel the invasion of the western part of the island.
